

Austin is excited for his second semester at USC, but is concerned about how he will do in his classes. He dreads having to keep track of five different submission methods and grade trackers for his five classes.

Austin retreats to his dorm to assess the situation, where he finds an email on his laptop showing him the new service. He decides to try out the assignment link.

CORE	MATH141 - Calculus I			 AUSTIN
ENGL	Assignments
MATH	Introduction	8 days	-75
UNIV
CHEM

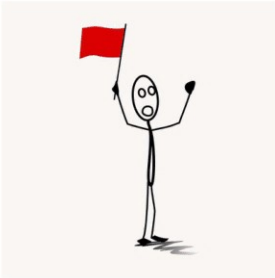

He sees an assignment listed along with its due date and grade. To Austin's surprise, the assignment name is a link that leads him to blackboard for submission.

CSCIE	CSCIE145 - Algorithmic Design I Schedule					 AUSTIN
ENGL
MATH
UNIV					HW 1
CHEM

Austin tries another class, but this time looks at the schedule, where he sees an outline of the next three weeks of assignments. Each assignment links back to a specialized Dropbox the instructor created for submission.

CSCIE	 Austin Nicholas
ENGL	To-do this week.
MATH	Grades.
UNIV	Contacts
CHEM	Nothing else this week.

Finally, Austin inspects his profile, which shows a quick overview of his grade, upcoming work, and instructor email links.

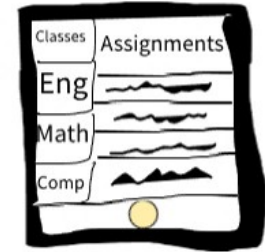

Austin has newfound confidence in his upcoming semester, sure he will never miss an assignment again.

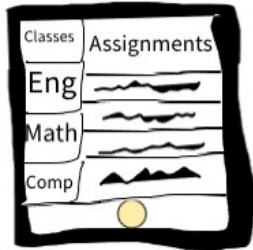

Yes, queen my matcha taste totes so good right now.

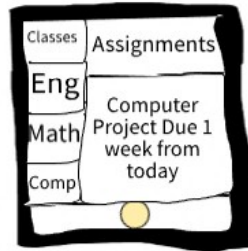

I FORGOT! I NEED TO SEE WHEN MY PROJECT IS DUE!

She first when to the home screen of the app on her phone

She see's first everything that is due in the upcoming weeks for all of her classes

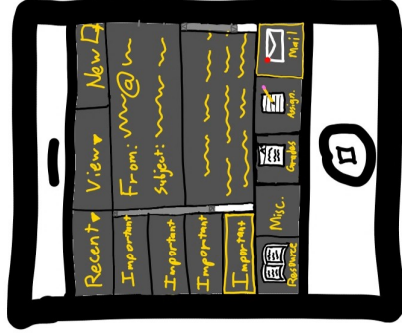

She is able to click on her computer class and see when her next project is due

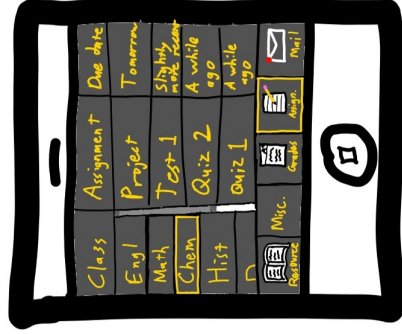

She's happy since she didn't have to spend 10 minutes to find something simple

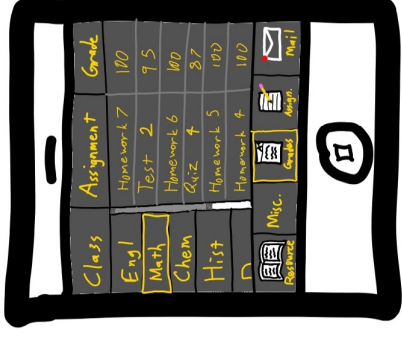

Chad has recently taken a test, so he opens his phone to check his grades.

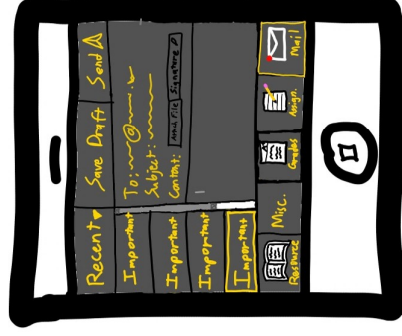

He sees some new unread emails and checks them.

Chad checks his assignments to make sure he's on track.

Chad has recently taken a test, so he opens his phone to check his gra

Chad responds to his important emails.

After remembering the big project due tomorrow, he rushes back to his room to finish.